

Take action to make hand hygiene more inclusive

Discover some simple, practical steps you can take to make hand hygiene in your restroom more inclusive:

- ✓ Ensure restrooms are kept clean at all times.
- ✓ Install dispensers that are easy to use for people with reduced hand function.
- ✓ Ensure a quiet environment, avoiding sensory overloads.
- ✓ Use soap and sanitizer products that are kind to skin and dermatologically tested.
- ✓ Install dispensers that control consumption and increase hygiene with one-at-a-time dispensing.
- ✓ Install dispensers with high capacity to reduce run outs.

Better hygiene. Better business.

*Survey among nationally representative group, barriers faced personally or in assisting others, 2024
Market research survey conducted in North America and Europe with offices, 2022

Almost

1 in 3

Americans face barriers when it comes to washing their hands.*

2 in 3

employees say that they are more likely to complain about a restroom than any other aspect of their office.